

Enhance Protection & Personal Safety

As your next normal takes shape, it's important to make sure your employees, contractors, visitors understand how to correctly use Personal Protective Equipment (PPE) and sanitization chemicals – and in which situations – to protect the health and wellbeing of themselves, their coworkers, their families and in general the people they may interact with. It is essential that they benefit from the right equipment and chemicals to protect themselves.

Sodexo helps facilitate the success of your protection and prevention efforts with thoughtful training and promotional materials that can be used in conjunction with your established site and workplace protocols. We will work with you to develop the messaging, strategy and execution you need to shape necessary behaviours, re-assess your service scope and supply-chain and manage the overall organisational changes required to build a healthier and safe future for your business.

Protection in Action

Providing the right tools to protect the health of your employees, contractors and visitors is only part of the infection prevention puzzle. Showing them how to use those tools correctly, but also which ones to use depending on the situation or level of risk brings it all together.

Change Behaviours

- Provide materials and training to promote proper hygiene & healthy living
- Inspire responsibility for workplace and accommodation facilities
- Raise awareness of the different solutions adapted to the level of risks

Improve Effectiveness

- Heightened awareness drives safe and affective PPE and product use
- Anticipate any shortage and provide alternative solutions
- Cooperative community approach produces better results

Reduce Costs

- Cleaner workspaces require less time to disinfect
- Reduced labor costs
- Less waste of valuable PPE and products
